Getaway to this exotic location - Pico Island, Azores

Enjoy vast green patchworks of farms and fields and vineyards lined with hydrangeas and azaleas, sheer sea cliffs, natural swimming pools, small fishing villages, and dramatic volcanic mountains. Pico, named for its 7,300 - foot high volcano (yes, you can climb it with a guide) was first settled in the mid - 1400s. Centuries of whalers, farmers, and fishermen have transformed the dark lava into houses, vineyards, and tilled fields. You will be staying in a comfortable residence, which will accommodate two families with 6-10 guests. Private downstairs apartment with its own kitchen, bedroom, full bathroom, and a sleep sofa in the sitting room, are ideal for one family. Upstairs, there are two bedrooms and a full hallway bath. High ceilings with exposed beams add charm. A sleep sofa in the living room can be used to accommodate extra guests or children. There is a full kitchen with laundry facilities, a stone bread oven, and additional dining area. The staircase to the upstairs is outside in the Portuguese architectural tradition, and leads to a spacious front patio with breathtaking ocean, cliff, and mountain views. Spend your days diving, hiking, sailing, deep-sea fishing, whale watching, and sampling the native wines and cheeses. Visit museums and 18th century churches and make day trips to other nearby islands. For a vacation of many contrasts, from the slopes of old volcanoes, the taste of fresh sweet figs and grapes, to the enchanting panoramic views and snug villages overlooking the sea, this vacation is for you. Available April 26 through June 30, 2009; or for a mutually agreed upon time between October 1, 2009 and April 30, 2010. The best weather and most fun local activities are from April to October.
